About the editor

Muyard (Frank)

Frank Muyard is currently Head of École française d'Extrême-Orient (EFO) Taipei Center and Associate Professor, National Central University, Taiwan. His main research interests are Taiwan and China's modern history and sociology, as well as Austronesian prehistory and South China protohistory. He is currently researching the history of Taiwanese archaeology and its interactions with state nationalism and indigenous peoples. Recent publications include "The Role of Democracy in the Rise of the Taiwanese National Identity," in A New Era in Democratic Taiwan (J. Sullivan & C. Lee eds., 2018), "Taiwan Archaeology and Indigenous Peoples," in Archaeology, History and Indigenous Peoples (L. Hung ed., 2016), and "Comparativism and Taiwan Studies: Analyzing Taiwan in/out of Context, or Taiwan as an East Asian New World Society," in Comparativizing Taiwan (S. Shih & P. Liao eds., 2015).

Liu (Yi-chang)

Liu Yi-chang is currently Professor and Director of the Institute of Archaeology at National Cheng Kung University and Adjunct Research Fellow at the Institute of History and Philology, Academia Sinica, from which he retired in 2019 as Research Fellow. His main research interest is Taiwan and the South China Sea periphery, focusing mainly on Taiwan prehistory, indigenous archaeology, historical archaeology, archaeology of Southeast Asia, cultural heritage studies, and the history of Taiwan archaeology. His research objective is to comprehensively understand the history of human development in Taiwan in linking the Austronesian-dominant prehistory with the Han culture-dominant history since the 17th century by means of integrating archaeology, ethnology, early historical archives, and the oral history of the indigenous peoples.
