About the editor

Anandakichenin (Suganya)

Suganya Anandakichenin (PhD, Universität Hamburg, 2015) is an Indologist specializing in Tamil and Manipravalam literature, Śrīvaiṣṇava traditions, lexicography, manuscript studies, and textual transmission. She received her PhD from the University of Hamburg and is the author of three monographs and numerous scholarly publications. She currently leads the ERC-funded MIRA project at the University of Hamburg.

Bhaskar (Neela)

Neela Bhaskar (PhD, Universität Hamburg, 2024) is a postdoctoral researcher with the TAMILEX project. She is currently preparing a critical edition and translation of the Cilappatikāram and its two medieval commentaries. Her research interests also include Perumpaṛra Puliṭṭu Nampi's Tiruvilaiyāṭal Purāṇam, the Mackenzie Collection, and the history of performing arts in South India.

Muru (Cristina)

Cristina Muru is Associate Professor of Linguistics at the University of Tuscia. Her research focuses on historical language contact, missionary grammars, the history of language science, and Tamil studies. She has worked extensively on early Jesuit descriptions of Tamil, language contact in India and the Mediterranean, archival materials, and fieldwork among the Paniya of the Nilgiris.

Trento (Margherita)

Margherita Trento (PhD University of Chicago, 2020) is associate professor in the history of South India at the École des hautes études en sciences sociales and head of the Indology Department at the French Institute of Pondicherry. She has written a monograph on the history of Catholicism in early modern Tamil Nadu, and she is now researching the history of Saivism in the same period.
